Annual Secretaries' Luncheon Scheduled

The Public Service Department invites you to show your appreciation to your secretary by taking her or him to the ninth annual Secretaries' Day Luncheon. The event will be held Friday, April 29, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., at the Skytop Holiday Inn. Tickets are $30 per person if reserved prior to April 22, and $35 after April 22.

The celebrity speaker for the event is George “Goober” Lindsey, star of The Andy Griffith Show and Hee Haw. Lindsey went to Hollywood from Broadway in 1962 to film “Ensign Pulver.” During his first two years in California the Jasper, Alabama native worked in 40 television shows. In 1964, he met Andy Griffith and the popular “Goober” character was scripted. Lindsey co-starred as Goober for more than seven years. He is now in his 22nd year as a co-star of the popular music comedy series “Hee Haw.”

In addition to Lindsey’s presentation, Roman Kris Cantrell will make a short presentation on creative thinking titled “Always Have A Plan B.”

As part of the luncheon, a number of door prizes will be given away including a weekend trip to “Villas By The Sea” at Jekyll Island.

The annual Secretaries’ Day Luncheon is one of the most successful of Floyd College’s Public Service Department’s programs, drawing up to 500 guests. Early reservations are recommended. To register call 295-6324. Credit cards are accepted.

April 15, 1994
Folks

Cindy Peterson, a joint enrollment student at Floyd College and North Metro Technical Institute, has been named the GOAL (Georgia Occupational Award of Leadership) winner for Bartow County. She will compete in the state competition May 31-June 3.

Nihal Gunay, counselor in Guidance Services, will have a paper published in the Georgia Mental Health Counselors Association Journal in the May 1994 issue. The paper is titled "Eating Disorders and Emotional Intimacy."

Sandy Briscar, public information officer, will speak to the University of Tennessee, Chattanooga chapter of the Public Relations Student Society of America April 18, and will host a roundtable session at the University of Georgia’s Public Relations Leadership Day, April 19.

T.L. Stone, director of the Police Academy, has resigned his position effective April 22. We thank him for ten years of service. A new director will be hired by and supervised by POST (Police Officer Standard Training), a state agency, as per new legislation. All other personnel in the police academy will be employees of Floyd College.

The Floyd College Police Academy serves 12 counties in Northwest Georgia. It is one of 14 police academies in Georgia.

Activities

A blood drive will be held Tuesday, May 3, 9:30-2 p.m. in the solarium.

Tower Hour will be held Tuesday, May 10, noon-2 p.m. by the lake. Lunch, games and music will be provided for all faculty, staff and students.

The following continuing education classes will be held in the coming weeks:
- Nature Drawing
- Violence in the Workplace
- Myers-Briggs Inventory
- Real-Estate Lease Purchase
- Piano Magic
- How Not to Go Broke

For information or to register for a class, call 295-6324.

An Environmental Quality workshop will be held Tuesday, April 26, 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m. for selected faculty and staff members. The workshop will be presented by Environmental Design, Inc. and is part of an ongoing air quality study. Participants will learn to spot problems in air quality around campus. There will be participants from all buildings on campus and specifically from the areas of Physical Plant, laboratories, art, publications, and the cafeteria.

FC to GET NEW ENTRANCE

When Floyd College was built 25 years ago, the front of the campus was designed to have two mirroring entrances and parking lots. As part of the design two double rows of oak trees were planted leading from U.S. Highway 27 to the campus buildings, one coming from the north and one coming from the south. But costs of constructing the college facilities exceeded the approved budget, thus only one entrance road was cut and one large parking lot was constructed.

Today a double row of towering trees line the paved entrance to the college on the north and on the south are rows of trees which sit in the middle of a field. Now, however, funds have been appropriated to construct the second entrance to the college to help eliminate congestion caused by our more than 3,000 students. Storm drains are currently being installed on the site, then the county will pave the entrance road. The project should be completed by this September.

Tom Melton, vice president for Business and Finance. The mirroring parking lot has been partially constructed and is not expected to be expanded at this time.