Academic Regalia

Stylized and distinctive academic regalia is a notable feature of all formal functions of colleges and universities throughout the world. The use of a particular kind of costume to distinguish university scholars grew up in Europe during the earliest days of these schools. Since there was an intimate relationship between the early universities and the Church—a large number of scholars were prepared for the priesthood and many of the faculty were clergymen—the garb adopted for students was similar to that worn by the clergy, although differing enough in design to set the scholars apart from the churchmen.

Basically, there are three types of gowns, three styles of hoods and two kinds of cap tassels included in American academic costume. The bachelor's gown is without ornamentation and has long, pointed and open sleeves; the master's gown is similar, but has even longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom (there are openings about midway for the hands); the doctor's gown has full length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. The master's gown may be worn either open or closed.

All hoods are lined with the colors of the institution granting the degree and faced with the traditional color of the primary field of study. The bachelor's hood is three feet long, the master's hood is three and a half, the doctor's four. The doctor's hood has wide set panels. The major field of study can be determined from the facing on the hood according to the following scheme: Arts—white; Science—gold/yellow; Nursing—apricot; Physical Education—green; Business Administration—drab; Librarianship—lemon; Education—blue.

The mace, a great and splendid staff, is actually a club; it is a symbolic weapon. Medieval universities would not defend themselves with the sword. It was not considered appropriate for gentle scholars to draw blood, but they could defend, using a cudgel—and they did. The mace has come to stand as a symbol for two critical matters. First, it stands for the freedom of the academy to seek the truth and to teach it. It also stands for the authority of the academy. This authority is best described by two traditional Latin terms: magisterium and auctoritas. Under the first term, magisterium, is included control of equipment, building and grounds, as well as the behavior of members and visitors — ensuring order and liberty. Under the second term, auctoritas, is included a defense of the liberty to do research, to study, to publish and to learn. The mace makes the statement that the academy must protect and foster those things.

The Floyd College mace was designed by Mr. David Mott, Associate Professor of Art and Dr. David Cook, retired Professor of Biology. The faculty selected Dr. J. Dwight Cassity, Professor of Political Science, to have the honor of carrying the mace in the procession.

Commencement Speaker
Scott Colley, Ph.D.

Berry College President Scott Colley is an English scholar as well as a successful administrator, having taught for 20 years as a faculty member at Vanderbilt University, and having served as Provost and Dean of the Faculty at Hampden-Sydney College, before coming to Rome in 1998. Dr. Colley received his bachelor's degree from Randolph-Macon College in Virginia and both his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Chicago. He has also completed the Harvard University Institute for Educational Management. As the President of Berry College, Dr. Colley has continued the institution's commitment to Education of the Head, the Heart and the Hands. Floyd College joins the Greater Rome community in celebrating Berry College's centennial anniversary this year.

PRESIDENT'S MERITORIOUS AWARD
The Honorable Nathan Dean

Nathan Dean of Rockmart, an insurance executive, is a veteran lawmaker who was first elected to the Georgia Senate in 1974. Senator Dean, a Democrat, is chairman of the Finance and Public Utilities Committee and is secretary of the Interstate Cooperation Committee. He serves the counties of Polk, Haralson, and Paulding, and a portion of Bartow. It is in this capacity that he has had a tremendous impact on the success and growth of Floyd College. The $19 million center that the college will be constructing in the coming months in Bartow County is in great part the result of Senator Dean's dedication to his constituents and his leadership in the Senate secured the funding of the center by the state. For these efforts, Senator Dean has been selected to receive the President's Meritorious Award from Floyd College this year.

WESLEY C. WALRAVEN FACULTY AWARD
F. Stephen Burns

Steve Burns, Floyd College Professor of Social Work, was a native of West Virginia. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Marshall University and master's degree from West Virginia University. He came to Rome in 1975 to work at the Coosa Valley Mental Health Center but left after two years to join the Floyd College faculty. In his 24 years at Floyd College, he was promoted from Training Coordinator to Assistant Professor and Associate Professor, before reaching the rank of Professor in 1997. Mr. Burns, who passed away last fall, was known for his cheerful disposition and his skill in the classroom. He was beloved by students and faculty and is missed daily. To honor his memory, the Floyd College faculty has elected to give the Wesley C. Walraven Faculty Award posthumously to F. Stephen Burns this year.

HOPE Scholarship Recipients

The HOPE Scholarship Program in Georgia has provided financial assistance to many Floyd College students each year since its inception in 1993. This year 46% of our graduating class received HOPE financial assistance in the form of scholarship funds and/or book allowances. Floyd College thanks our legislative representatives for continuing this program for deserving students.

Floyd College Alumni Association

Membership in the Floyd College Alumni Association is open to all former students who have either graduated or completed 24 semester (or 30 quarter) hours. The Alumni Advisory Board plans an organizational meeting for Summer 2002. The initial goals of the Association will be to: 1) increase visibility of the organization; 2) increase membership; and 3) encourage involvement of alumni in campus activities.

The list of degree candidates was required by the printer several days prior to commencement to allow for the production of this program. The status of some candidates may have changed since that time. Some will not have completed all requirements for their degrees, and some will have achieved or lost Honors status. The listing of the names in this program in no way implies an obligation on the part of Floyd College to award a given degree or a given Honors status.

For official purposes a final, corrected list of graduates will be retained in the office of the Registrar, Floyd College.

Cartersville/Bartow Foundation
The Cartersville/Bartow College Foundation, Inc. was chartered in January, 1999. The foundation provided a vehicle to meet the Board of Regents' requirement for a beginning endowment fund to enhance support of the new Cartersville Center, projected to open in 2004. The Foundation also provides funds for the Bartow Service Scholarship, as well as special funds for college programs and activities. The Foundation is composed of community leaders from the Cartersville/Bartow area.
The History of Floyd College

In its 31-year history, Floyd College has served the Northwest Georgia community with a solid educational foundation for the first two years of college. Founded in 1970 as Floyd Junior College, Floyd College is a two-year unit of the University System of Georgia. It serves students who commute from throughout a large portion of northwest Georgia and northeast Alabama.

In 1968 the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia authorized the establishment of Floyd Junior College in Floyd County. Under the Board's policy, the local community provided a campus site and funds for the construction of the initial facilities. Led by the Junior College Committee headed by Rome attorney J. D. Maddox, Floyd County citizens responded enthusiastically by approving a $3.2 million bond issue by a margin of nearly three to one. Construction began in early 1970. The College's first classes were offered during the fall quarter of 1970, in temporary facilities. The end of 1970 all operations were moved to the new campus on U.S. Hwy. 27, six miles south of Rome.

Dr. David B. McCorkle became the first president of Floyd Junior College on January 1, 1970, and served in that position until June 30, 1991. Following Dr. McCorkle’s retirement, Dr. Richard Trimble was appointed acting president of Floyd College and served until the November 1992 selection of Dr. H. Lynn Cundiff as the College’s second president. Dr. Cundiff left the College in August 2000. During the 2001 academic year, Robert Watts served as Interim President. The Board of Regents named Dr. J. Randolph Pierce the third president of Floyd College on June 15, 2001.

Now enrolling approximately 2,500 students in transfer and career academic programs, Floyd College operates additional sites in Cartersville, Acworth and Haralson County. The College pioneered cooperative programs with Coosa Valley Technical College as early as 1972 and now also offers joint programs with North Metro Technical College.

In recent years, the college has become more innovative with its outreach and programming, offering more courses via nontraditional means to meet the needs of its diverse student population and initiating programs which serve as models for colleges across the country.

In 1994 the college opened Heritage Hall in downtown Rome to be more accessible to the working student. FCTV, a 24-hour cable television station went on the air that same year, offering classes that could be viewed multiple times a week for students with scheduling conflicts. An open access channel, FCTV is broadcast in Floyd County through the Comcast cable system.

The 1997-98 academic year brought national attention to Floyd College as the institution embarked on a groundbreaking program to change the way students learn. The Information Technology Project incorporated technology in the classroom and provided increased access to instructors and classmates outside of class and access to a world of resources— all by putting laptops computers in every student’s hands.

In 1999 construction was completed on a new classroom building on the central campus in Rome. In addition to classrooms, the Lakeview Building features an art lab, an art gallery, and an exhibit hall. The college’s student center has also recently undergone extensive expansion and renovation.

A new Bartow County Center, which when built will combine the college centers in Cartersville and at North Metro Technical College, has been approved by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. Located on Highway 20, convenient to I-75, the center is expected to serve more than 1,500 students when it opens in 2004.

As Floyd College enters the 21st century, it continues to offer the best, most advanced educational foundation to its student body. Your support and comments are appreciated.

The Floyd College Alumni Association is open to all former students. Later this year, the Class of 2004 will receive additional information about the services and benefits that are available to members of the Alumni Association.

The list of degree recipients in this program reflects the requirements for graduation. It does not necessarily imply a comment on the quality of the education and achievements of the students so honored. For official purposes, students should consult their permanent records for more precise information.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER
Dr. Stuart Gulley

Stuart Gulley became president of LaGrange College in 1996, after a distinguished career in higher education at Emory University with an emphasis in theology. Since he arrived at LaGrange, as been named by Georgia Trend magazine to its list of “Forty Under 40: 1997 Rising Stars in Georgia Business, Politics and Academics.” He also served as president of the LaGrange Rotary Club from 2003-2004.

In his presidency at LaGrange College, Dr. Gulley held the position of associate vice president for university development and church relations at Emory, where he was responsible for the tutoring advancement of the schools of business, law, Oxford College, theology, the Carlos E. Wilmore and the Emory Ethics Center. He has also served as the director of development and director of admissions and student placement for the Candler School of Theology at Emory. Earlier in his career, he was assistant pastor at Briarcliff United Methodist Church in Atlanta.

Gulley holds a doctorate in higher education from Georgia State University, a master’s degree in theology and a Bachelor of Arts in modern European history from Vanderbilt University.

PRESIDENT'S MERITORIOUS AWARD RECIPIENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons J. Heyman

Ident Pierce chose the Heymans for this year's award in recognition and appreciation of their many years of service to the college. Over the years, they have jointly and separately served on the boards of many charitable organizations in Rome and have contributed to numerous projects that benefited the community. Jo Heyman was asked to serve on the board of Floyd College in 1978 and contributed in this capacity for many years, becoming an honorary lifetime member in 1998. That same year, the Heymans served as chairpersons for the Sixth Annual Monte Night, a yearly fundraiser for the college. Singly or together, they have also been active in the Anderson Museum, Chamber of Commerce, Open Door Home, Junior League, Red Cross, Salvation Army, YMCA, Rome Rotary Club, Nine O’Clock Cotillion Club, Rome Symphony Orchestra, Boys and Girls Club of Rome, Floyd Medical Center and the Rodeph Shalom gregation. Mr. Heyman is managing trustee of the Heyman Family Foundation. In 2003, he was Distinguished Alumnus at Darlington School. As a couple, the Heymans were awarded one of the highest honors in the Rome community - the Heart of the Community Award.
